From the Desk of Mr. Murr...

I have been reminded lately of how quickly the time goes by. It's as if I blinked, and my kids are grown up. In our parenting journey, my wife, Angela, and I have learned the value in the power of praying for our children and the importance of spending time together as a family. I want to challenge you to make praying for your children a priority and placing great value on family time. The Lord will honor your obedience and intentionality. Years down the road as your children grow, you will see the fruit of planting seeds of prayer and faithfulness into them over the years.
